Additional Information

How is this data collected?

Data is exported daily from ECC and MNPDP systems by automated script. Data is subject to change during an investigation as more information becomes available. ECC and MNPDP make every reasonable effort to ensure that the information is current and accurate at the time it is provided, although data may contain erroneous information due to undetected errors, false information provided by suspects and witnesses, and other reasons beyond ECC's and MNPDP's control.

What does each record represent?

A call for police service

What are the limitations of the data?

This information is not to be used or construed as an official MNPDP report. MNPDP responding unit information is limited to callsign. Location information is rounded for privacy reasons. Data not releasable by state law has been excluded and those records do not appear in the dataset.

A dataset for calls that become incidents is available. More information may be available via a public records request.
